Scandalous Delay

IT is now a full year since the campaign for the Royal Jubilee Hospital was consided. The hospital asked for $410,000 locally, to be applemented by federal and provincial grants. A hard-arking committee, supported by hundreds of volunteer gavassers, raised $500,000.

In spite of this prodicines effort, no work has been started. Today's best estimate is that the Jubilee addition may not get undersay until the spring of 1961.

Why?

The answer, stripped of all its verbiage, is that the hospital is tied up, frastrated and delayed by a fantastic hodge-podge of governmental red tape.

Plans for the sw wing, and facilities, were sent to the BCHIS on March 2, 1959. These were approved on Next the Health Minister, Eric Martin, asked for an operating balget. This has been discussed and ap-proved by the loopital board.

The budget now goes to Mr. Martin. Then he must pass it for approval to the Treasury Board.

Once that body has placed its seal of approval on the work, he permissible to go ahead with the architect's working drawings—as distinguished from the sketches which have been presented and approved up to date. These complete drawings will probably take any months to prepare. six months to prepare.

After the architect's drawings have been submitted, tenders are called. This process consumes another three

Adding it all up, it would appear that ground will not be broken until March, 1961.

It is quite evident, however, that the provincial oversment can move as quickly—or as slowly—as it takes, in construction matters. Consider these events: @ Government House was razed by fire and re-bullt in 18 months;

Occupance of the summer's crop of tourists;

A new $4½ million hospital has been approved for Nanaimo, and work will start in August.

pital authorities have converted treatment rooms porches, private wards and virtually every little -hole they can lay their hands on.

Doctors are booking rooms for patients as far ahead as June. Only four elective surgery cases are taken daily. Sick persons can't get in unless they're classed as "emergency" cases; they must wait their weal

No new acute hospital beds have been created in Victoria since 1952, when St. Joseph's opened an addition to its surgical and medical facilities. In the meantime, the population of Greater Victoria has grown by approximately 25,000.

This is nothing short of disgraceful.

What committees get from the though spokesmen for several minister in return is an endless stream of pious platitudes, road-blocks and niggling frustrations.

The money is in; the hospital is reported "ready to by some London newspapers.

Gradual extension of democratic rights to Negroes means a Negro government some time is the future.

Promised Own Rule in Reserves

The government has held out to the Africans the spect of eventual self-government in eight or nine Bantustans or reserves around the country.

But development of these rural areas cost around $30,000,000 over the first 10 years and the government has shown no sign of providing that kind of money in-

Urbanized Africans also show no inclination to return to these rural areas.

More and more a cry for consultation with moderate African leaders is coming from white moderates and intellectuals even within the governing Nationalist party. Most often mentioned as a moderate leader is the former Zulu chief, Albert Luthuli, president of the now-outlawed African National Congress.

But Luthuli and most other Africa leaders are in jail under the emergency regulations.

The Fiction of Power

IN THE LANGUAGE OF ELECtoral politics, which it clearly understands, the provincial Govern ment has encountered real trouble on the Columbia. The informal convention in Revelstoke, representing the constituencies near the interior river, from the Okanagan to the Kootenays, warns Mr. Bennett that his High Arrow dam project threatens him with grave losses in the Hence Mr. Williston's rather desperate assertion that the provincial Government supports the dam at Mica Creek, as advocated by the federal Government. But Williston's statement is really meaningless. Everybody supports the Mica Creek dam. The whole question is one of timing. Which is come first-Mica/Creek or High Arrow?

Clearly the provincial Government wishes first to dam the Co-iumbia on Arrow Lake, store water there, increase the output of American power plants south of the border and then share these cheap downstream benefits.

The federal Government, on the other hand, and rightly, wishes first to dam the Columbia north of Revelstoke at Mica Creek for an obvious reason. Both dams would produce downstream benefits but the High Arrow dam would itself produce no electricity, whereas the Mica Creek dam would produce

As the federal Government sees Canada will use up its share of the American downstream benefits after a few years. Then it will need. more electricity, which can be made at Mica Creek. But if the High Arrow dam is built first the Mica Creek dam will be delayed indefinitely and in the meantime, facing a prospective power shortage, the provincial Government will have a colorable excuse to dam the Peace and carry its relatively high-cost power into Vancouver.

All this has been well understood in Ottawa for some time and is the true reason for the quarrel between the provincial and federal Governments.

The former is determined to get the Peace under way somehow, but knows that it cannot be financed at present if the full Columbia scheme, based on Mica Creek, goes ahead without delay, simply cause the power market could not support the full electrical output of both rivers for years to come. national authorities believe that the Columbia must come first and the Peace later, when it is needed.

At last the people of the cen-tral interior, who are most intiseen through the public fictions of this dispute between Victoria and

They are determined to prevent the High Arrow project in favor of the Mica Creek dam as the first and most vital stage in the whole development. The fight of priorities is coming into the open where a provincial Government moving toward an election cannot ignore it But the provincial Government may be able to confuse it, at least in the coastal and northern constituencies remote from the Co-

For Mr. Bennett's strategy it is essential, if possible, to enter election with the promise of full, simultaneous exploitation of both Columbia and Peace—a strategy designed to appeal to northern, southern and coastal constituencies And it may be possible to maintain this fiction even though the federal Government and the Wenner-Gren promoters themselves have said that the Peace cannot be financed at present, without power exports, which are barred by national policy, if the Columbia is harnessed in the near future. What the Peace scheme needs, to make it bankable, is assured customers for its power, whatever the delivered price may be. There are only two significant customers—the B.C. Electric and the B.C. MR. JAMES BANNERMAN, a famous the B.C. Toronto journalist and broadcast-Power Commission.

If they would only sign up now for great blocks of power the Wenner-Gren promoters might have a proposition which investors would finance, but hardly otherwise. No sensible investor is likely to put his money into the Peace without a definite assurance that its power can be sold against the competition of cheaper Columbia power.

It is encouraging to hear from the Power Commission that it alone will negotiate for its future power supplies and thus preserve the public interest in regard to price. But who is the Power Commission? Since two cabinet ministers were placed as watchdogs on the Commission it can no longer pretend to be entirely independent, if it ever was. It is the organ of the provincial Government and will do, in MOREOVER, says Mr. Bannerman, cial Government and will do, in great affairs, what the Government

Investigation at Colquitz

MORE THAN A CORONER'S inquest and a routine depart-mental investigation is required at the Colquitz mental hospital. The public knows about certain tragic events there but it is in no position to fix the blame for them. Clearly there must have been some misjudgment which made it possible for an insane patient to secure firearms and ammunition, apparently with little difficulty. But what lay behind all this?

may be sure that the officials in charge of Colquitz hospital face many problems, as in all such Their personal qualifications must be considered by the Government but there is another question: Is the hospital itself adequately designed and equipped for its present purposes? Has the public any assurance that recent events may not be repeated? Is the staff large enough and sufficiently trained for its duties? The Government says it is conducting a "departmental" inquiry but this will hardly satisfy the public. Obviously this case requires study by a group of qualified investigators in whom the public will have the fullest confidence. Mr. Bonner should not hesitate to appoint a royal commissioner or commissioners to consider the real causes of the tragedy which took a gallant police officer's life and shook the public's confidence in the whole conduct of the hospital.

Down to Work

NOW THAT PARLIAMENT HAS started the second half of its session one hopes it will make better progress with important business than it made in the first half.

Until Easter the House of Commons had worked for 65 days without accomplishing anything in particular. All the major business of the session-the appropriation of money, the investigation of defence, the amendment to the combines laws, the Bill of Rights, the changes in tariff schedules-have yet to be

LOOSE ENDS

When Knighthood Is In Flower-Local Version

Toronto journalist and broadcaster, of the egghead school, has found the solution to our Canadian tourist problem. All we need to attract more American tourists, Mr. Bannerman writes in The Financial Post, is to restore titles of nobility in Canada. "How it would glamorize us," he says, if the tourists could expect to hear "as they sit in

Sir Rebel continues, "a noble pile of granite once occupied by a vulgar mob known as the Legislature in more primitive times but now sanctified by the Great Presence, recently enobled. # Commute by Boat

Where else, I wonder, could a party of skiers commute by power-boat to the foot of their chosen mountain? The journey on a sunny morning from here to Bellingham is not the least delightful pert of a spring jaunt to Baker, and if we did underestimate the length of time it would take us to reach our destination I did not hear anybody voicing a complaint too loudly.

The skiing was good in a way that will be familiar to you if you know what Baker is like on a good day, and it was striking to notice how large was the preponderance of Canadians over Americans on the slopes.

The journey home from Bellingham through Obstruction Pass and past the south end of Orcas Island was smooth and wholly delightful, though it did un-derline the great scenic loss that British Columbia suffered when she allowed the United States to make good her claim to the North West,

There is a reasonable explanation for the fact that fiscal years run from rather odd dates—though I can't remember what it is, offhand—but I must member what it is, of hand—but I must own I was altogether dumbfounded when I was asked by the CBC to join in a discussion of "the year's events in the arts in B.C." Do all federal bodies begin their year on May 1? I had hitherto believed that this date was sacred only to the workers of the world.

Well, anyway, I eventually found myself sharing a small table with Joan Lowndes and Abe Rogatnick of Vancouver, while we argued the toss about cultural manifestations here-

SILENUS do not go far enough. It is all very well to change the name of one of our oldest streets to University Way . . indeed, it shows a commendable disregard of both history and the fitness of things . . . but surely we can do better than that.

Richmond Avenue, for instance, should really be Hospital Parkway. Douglas Street, because it is familiar and named withal after the father of the country, is ripe for a change; but there are difficulties in the way. Who is going to say whether it is to be Eaton's Street or Hudson's Bay Boulevard? Or even Newspaper Controlled Access Highway? Or even . . for suggestions, knock on any merchant's door.

View, another fine old street name in the downtown area, is clearly out of date. If it, ever did, it does not now command one. It ends in a curious little habitant-mansard building housing a branch of the Bank of Montreal. Let it, accordingly, be Bank of Parallel to View runs Fort, which used to be the trail leading from the old fort on the harbor into the wilds of Oak Bay. This might well become Harborview Drive, or Traffic Light Thruway.

And talking of Oak Bay, surely that salubrious municipality is growing restive under the wretched old name under which it was incorporated. Much more up to date would be the Corporation of the District of Byelection. The Uplands, of course, should long since have been Crestview Heights. Saanich is a pretty old hat sort of name, too. It should drop its affected second "a," and call itself Chattertonville; or even, to be Victoria should, of course, be Elizabeth.

And it must change at the accession of each succeeding monarch.

I have been saving the best for the last: Gentle readers must by now be wondering what we should call Government Street? I rather fiked Windbag Way, but it somehow lacks dignity. Accordingly, we shall have a little contest. Anyone with a better suggestion will please be so good as to send it in to this column. A week from today the entries will be judged by a compilitie of contest. tries will be judged by a committee of emi-nent street-namers, and the psuedonym of the winner will be published in due course.

There will be only one prize. Whoever thinks up the name which the judges (whose decision will be final) consider the best for what is still Government Street will receive in the mail a guaranteed fertile seagull egg, with complete instructions for hatching thrown in.

Five years may see a big change in your responsibilities. Five years may see a big change in your life insurance needs. For these very reasons, Sun Life of Canada offers its new ADJUSTABLE POLICY, the policy that gives you four options at the end of five years so that you can decide what type of life insurance coverage best suits you at that time.

For example, will you still be insurable? One of the options offers you increased coverage with no further medical evidence . . or . . will you want a larger income for your retirement years? Another option allows you to change your policy to an endowment at age 65. or . . will you want to reduce your premium outlay without reducing your protection? Then you can change your policy to a lower premium, whole life policy . . . Or you also have the option of keeping your original policy - which will be fully paid for at age 65 - in effect. This plan may meet your personal and family insurance needs for a lifetime.

With its four valuable options, Sun Life's Adjustable Policy looks to your future and considers

- · your financial circumstances
- · your family's protection
- · your retirement income · your insurability

Let the Sun Life agent in your neighborhood put you and your family on the right road to security. Why not ask him today for full details of this flexible new policy?

A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

There are few ways in which people reveal so plainly what they think of themselves and the world about them, as by their choice of clothes, and few ways in which we can so quickly get the feel of an era as by considering its styles of dress. Yet there are people who insist that dress is unimportant, and that attention to it is a sign of a frivolous nature; their own shallow-ness and lack of common observation is shown thereby.

The eastern Canada champions, who bowed to the Kings

They did all their scoring in the opening two periods and that was enough to convince the Oil Kings they didn't have a chance without regular goal-keeper Russ Gillow. His right eye, puffed up and discolored after he was hit by a puck in

And while golf guess-perts argue over the respective merits of the two professionals, the final touches are being added to the stage that will present the showdown scene from Vancouver Island's biggest golf tournament.

Gorge vale, the full-splattered and exacting Esquimalt course, provides the setting.

Sunday is the day.

At stake is The Dally Times Trophy and the Island's match-play supremacy for 1960. Additional rewards for the winner include $100 and the exclusive Times Open blazer.

The runner-up gets $50 and an over-supply of consolatory remarks.

Only one thing is certain. Only one can lose.

But it won't be a one-act show. In supporting roles are Vic Derman, 15-year-old Gorge Vale junior, and 50-year-old Walt Spaven of Cedar Hill. Theirs is the duty to decide an Island handicap champion and new holder of the Hugh Francis Trophy.

Both battles are over 36-hole routes. Derman and Spaven TORONTO (CP) — St. a one-time pro, lead the way at 9 a.m. with MacLeod and Catharines Teepees, confi-Donaldson teeing off 15 minutes later. Afternoon rounds will dent and full of skate, to-start about 1.15.

Never Too Far Off Par Figures

And if practice rounds this week are any indication, the pros won't be too har off par's pace. They rarely are. If they do happen to stray off par Sunday, it won't be the fault of the greens. The Gorge greens came in for a compli-ment Friday afternoon from Oak Bay's Dr. George Bigelow. "The best in town at the moment," was the golfing doctor's observation It is generally conceded Sunday's putcome may well be decided on the greens. Neither Donaldson, a strong iron hitter, nor MacLeod, the blond belter with a variety of shots in his bag, are apt to stray too far away from the centre of the fair-

The psychological aspect of the match may also have a slight bearing on the final result, although both have similar attitudes. Both are confident players who expect to win every match they play.

This is the third trip to the Island final for MacLeod, after he was hit by a puck in the series opener, closed tight in the series opener, closed tight in the Times tourney. He was beaten in two previous playon him and he sat out Friday's game.

STEADY FLOW BACK ACROSS BORDER

U.S. Coins Becoming Rarity

American coins, which once made up almost a third of the change in Canadian pockets, are becoming a rarity in Canadian.

In less than a month the coins have almost disappeared in some areas, flowing back across the border in a silver stream.

It was April 7 that Canadian banks began discounting United States coinage. The rate is 2 per cent more than the prevailing daily rate for paper money—a total of about 6 per cent—and applies on silver in amounts of $1 or more.

In the face of the bank dissiple any coinage to the U.S. as in other areas, there has before the discount, has sent $25,000—72 bags of silver—to Buffalo banks in three weeks.

Estimates of how long it weeks.

The story is much the same across the country, especially in the larger centres and border points. Everywhere vend and parking meters got more than their share of the coins.

Even collection plates are when the discount was imposed. This has dropped sharply and only a negligible amount is expected to be showning in the next two weeks.

READY FOR FALL

Barbara To Ride

Glamorous Barbara, a top movie star for more than 25 years, has held out against a television series, waiting for and you'll find this difficult to believe—a western program. "That's what I wanted to do three years ago," the actress insisted. "There have been many offers, but every time I suggested a horse opera I was told nobody wanted to see a woman star in a western. "I told them there wouldn't have been anyone to settle the west if it weren't for some of the rough-tough gals. "I had hoped to play an Annie Oakley-type character." The networks turned her down, but Barbara is getting even in her own feminine way. Her new show, with the not very original title of "The Barbara Stanwyck Show," hits the coaxial cable next fall—and among the individual segments are several sagebrush granuly it was planned to Td appear in only 27 of e 33 shows, but now it looks if I'll be working in at last 35 of them," she said.

Asked if she was afraid of er-exposure, Barbara shook HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bar-bara Stanwyck is joining that exclusive sorority of actresses who star in their own dra-matic anthology TV series.

It amounts to a weekly showcase with the centre-stage spotlight focused directly on the actress. Who could ask for more?

"The only time a performer is over-exposed is when the shows are bad," she said.
"That's true even if you are seen once in a lousy program."

SOOKE-A committee was formed here this week to investigate requirements of a low-cost housing project for senior citizens in this area.

Action was taken at a meeting sponsored by Sooke branch, St. John Ambulance Association, when A. A. Shipp, chief inspector of welfare institutions for B.C., outlined costs, financial aid available, and types of accommodation available.

The committee, consisting of Robert Gibson,

Frank Richardson, G. D. Archibald, W. Simmons, Mrs. Christine Clark, and Mrs. J. R. Horgan, will seek information from the regional office of the provincial welfare branch, Vancouver Housing Association, and groups that have undertaken similar projects.

Mrs. R. G. Waters, secretary of the St. John

Auxiliary, offered to help the committee with its secretarial work.

ROYAL WEDDING

Gown Details Revealed By Americans

LONDON · (Reuters) - Lon don newspapers today agreed with surprised shock that Americans may have correctly disclosed details about Princess Margaret's wedding dress.

A drawing of a "monastic ally simple" gown, published yesterday by the New York clothing trade paper, Women's Wear Daily, was splashed over front pages here.

The New York paper also had detailed descriptions of the dresses it said the six little bridesmaids will wear to the vedding next Friday.

"Spies!" scream the head-lines of the tabloid Daily Sketch, "They've snatched the big secret of the dress." The Daily Mail reports that Norman Hartnell, Princess Margaret's designer, has ordered a "leak inquiry."

A Daily Mail reporter writes: "I understand that many of the details are correct. How they could have leaked out is a mystery. Such a thing has never happened in the past." Hartnell himself refused to comment on the New York pa-per's report that the dress "will he the simplest worn at a royal wedding in many years.".

Jubilee Hospital was concluded. The hospital asked for $410,000 locally, to be supplemented by federal and provincial grants. A hard-working committee, supported by hundreds of volunteer canvassers, raised $500,000.

In spite of this prodigious effort, no work has been started. Today's best estimate is that the Jubilee addition may not get under way until the spring of 1961.

Why?

The answer, stripped of all its verblage, is that the hospital is tied up, frustrated and delayed by a fantastic dge-podge of governmental red tape.

Plans for the new wing, and facilities, were sent to the BCHIS on March 2, 1959. These were approved on January 15, this year.

Next the Health Minister, Eric Martin, asked for an operating budget. This has been discussed and approved by the hospital board.

The budget now goes to Mr. Martin. Then he must pass it for approval to the Treasury Board.

Once that body has placed its seal of approval on the work it's permissible to go ahead with the archi-tect's working drawings—as distinguished from the sketches which have been presented and approved up to date. These complete drawings will probably take six months to prepare.

After the architect's drawings have been submitted, tenders are called. This process consumes another three

Adding it all up, it would appear that ground will not be broken until March, 1961.

It is quite evident, however, that the provincial government can more as quickly—or as slowly—as it wishes, in construction matters. Consider these events: • Government House was razed by fire and re-built in 18 months;

Construction crews are swarming all over Swartz Bay, in frantic preparation for the new ferry service and the summer's crop of tourists;

A new 841/2 million hospital has been approved for Nanaimo, and work will start in August.

In other words, the VIPs who stop at Government House, and the tourists, are to be well looked after. But what is the situation at Royal Jubilee?

In a word, it is shocking. In their need for beds, hospital authorities have converted treatment rooms, sun porches, private wards and virtually every little cubby-hole they can lay their hands on.

Doctors are booking rooms for patients as far ahead as June. Only four elective surgery cases are taken daily. Sick persons can't get in unless they're classed as "emergency" cases; they must wait their

No new acute hospital beds have been created in Victoria since 1952, when St. Joseph's opened an addition to its surgical and medical facilities. In the meantime, the population of Greater Victoria has grown by approximately 25,000.

Scandalous Delay

IT is now a full year since the campaign for the Royal Jubilee Hospital was concluded. The hospital asked for $410,000 locally, to be supplemented by federal and provincial grants. A hard-working committee, supported by hundreds of volunteer canvassers, raised $500,000.

In spite of this prodigious effort, no work has been started. Today's best estimate is that the Jubilee addiev not get under way until the spring of 1961. Why?

The answer, stripped of all its verbiage, is that the hospital is tied up, frustrated and delayed by a fantastic hodge-nodge of governmental red tape.

Plans for the new wing, and facilities, were sent to the BCHIS on March 2, 1959. These were approved on January 15, this year.

Next the Health Minister, Eric Martin, asked for an operating hudget. This has been discussed and approved by the hospital board.

The budget now goes to Mr. Martin. Then he must pass it for approval to the Treasury Board.

Once that body has placed its seal of approval on the work, it's permissible to go ahead with the archi-tect's working drawings—as distinguished from the sketches which have been presented and approved up to date. These complete drawings will probably take six months to prenare.

After the architect's drawings have been submitted, tenders are called. This process consumes another three

Adding it all up, it would appear that ground will not be broken until March, 1961. *** *

It is quite evident, however, that the provincial government can move as mickly—or as slowly—as it wishes, in construction matters. Consider these events: Government House was razed by fire and re-

In other words, the VIPs who ston at Government about problems facing their House, and the tourists, are to be well looked after. But 10th postwar conference openwhat is the situation at Royal Jubilee?

In a word, it is shocking. In their need for beds, hospital authorities have converted treatment rooms; es, private wards and virtually every little cubby-hole they can lay their hands on.
